Introducing a rare 9.03-acre offering at Materson Point in the peaceful East Suburbs of Grand Turk, comprising Parcels 38 and 39 in Block 10411. This expansive ocean-facing site enjoys uninterrupted views across the crystalline waters to Gibbs Cay—famous for its stingray encounters—and captures some of the most breathtaking sunrises in the Turks & Caicos Islands. Once home to the historic Grand Turk Conch Farm, the property benefits from remnants of existing infrastructure, offering a unique foundation for future development. The site's legacy adds depth, character, and a compelling story for investors seeking to create a destination rooted in the island's cultural and ecological heritage. Zoned Tourism Hospitality, this land presents an exceptional opportunity for a boutique hotel, eco-resort, luxury villa enclave, or mixed-use coastal retreat. Grand Turk is seeing renewed interest from investors drawn to its slower-paced island living, rich history, vibrant marine life, and world-class diving—all elements that position Materson Point as a rare canvas for a flagship hospitality or lifestyle development. With over nine acres of prime coastal acreage, this is a one-of-a-kind opportunity to shape the next signature destination in the nation's capital.
